

MICHAEL R. KULLMAN
GIS Specialist and Field Party Chief mk@tdi-bi.com

EDUCATION

Texas A&M University, College Station, TX, Master of Science, Geography, 1996

Texas A&M University, College Station, TX, Bachelor of Science, Geography, 1992

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

TDI-Brooks International, Inc., College Station, TX, GIS Specialist and Field
Party Chief, 1997-Present

- Use of Arc/Info and ArcView GIS software for cartographic output and analysis
- Development of GIS tool (using Map Objects and Visual Basic) for visual display of geochemical data in an interactive map format
- Oversee field work aboard company research vessels
- Head of all technical staff on cruises to make sure the project is going smoothly and that the quality of the data is good

Texas A&M University-Department of Geography, College Station, TX, Graduate Teaching Assistant and GIS Lab Manager, August 1994 –December 1996

- Developed instructional manual for introductory undergraduate GIS course (with additional materials for advanced course) to satisfy requirements for non-thesis masters program

Texas A&M University-Department of Geophysics, College Station, TX, Data
Conversion Coordinator, August 1992 –August 1994

- Provided cartographic output using AutoCad R12 and ARC/INFO GIS for a university run, oil industry sponsored program to map subsurface structures (faults, salt domes, etc.) in the northern Gulf of Mexico

PROFESSIONAL TRAINING

GIS ARC/INFO (PC, UNIX)

Basic Offshore Survival and Emergency Training